Dear Pastors and supporters,

I recently read an article about a man asking a professor at a distinguished college if there was any way the course of his studies could be shortened so his son could get a job sooner. The president of the college replied "it could be possible, but it would depend on what you are trying to produce. When God wants to make an oak, it takes one hundred years. When He wants to make a squash, it only takes two months." The same is true in Missions work. Some missionaries and some pastors as well, believe that the process can be shortcut. We hope to produce oaks!

Being in Honduras 22 years have definitely been rewarding.

Just recently we were at Pensacola Christian College for their missions conference. We also attended Landmark Baptist College. At both places, we made some good contacts with students.

While we were away for two Sundays, a total of 6 people came to know the Lord as their personal Savior. Two of them are parents of one of the second graders in our school. We are anxious to get back and follow up on them.

We are reaping the rewards as we enter into the season of harvest.

Thank you to all who have supported us these many years.
